

NOTE ON CONTRIBUTORS

Sergiu Constantin Enea is currently a doctoral student at the “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iasi. His interests include Prehistory of East Carpathian Area, social archaeology of pre- and proto-historic communities. His doctoral research investigates the symbols of social hierarchies of Eneolithic civilizations in Romanian area.

Violeta-Anca Epure graduated from „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava in 2002, and is presently a doctoral student in the Department of Modern History there. Her research interests focus on the role of migrations in Eastern-Central Europe.

Mirela Beguni graduated the "Gheorghe Asachi" Technical University of Iasi and the „Alexndru Ioan Cuza” University of Iasi, Faculty of Orthodox Theology. She is teaching assistant at the Faculty of History and Geograph, and Ph.D. student at the „Ștefan cel Mare" University of Suceava, with the thesis Veniamin Costachi – the bookman, the hierarch and the man. She teaches History of Art, History of Religions and Scientific Basis of Conservation.

Dinu Balan was specializing in the history of modernity and nationalism. He was awarded his Ph.D in 2005, at the “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași, for a thesis on National, nationalism, xenophobia and anti-Semitism in Romanian modern society (1831-1866), which was subsequently published (Iași, 2006). He lectures at the “Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava, where he teaches modern Romanian history.

Dumitru Vitcu studied at the „Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași, where he received his Ph.D. in 1974. He is Professor at the Faculty of History and Geography, „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava, and Senior Research Fellow at the „A.D. Xenopol” Institute of History, Romanian Academy in Iasi. He has been visiting professor at Emerson College and Boston College. His main fields of interests are centered on the modernization of Romanian

Principalities in the 19th century. He is a contributor and editor to international collections of articles and reviews, and author of several books

Monica Marghetei Marțincu graduated in 2004 from “Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava in 2004. She completed a postgraduate course “Romanians and Europe (18th-19th centuries)” at the Faculty of History, “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași, in 2006. She works as a Research Assistant at the Institute of History “A.D. Xenopol” in Iași, Department of Modern History. She is currently a doctoral student at the “Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava. Her research field is Modern history, especially History of Romanian Church.

Vlad Gafița graduated in 1999 from “Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava, having completed a Ph.D. thesis on the political activity of Iancu Flondor, a Romanian leader in the Austrian Bukovina. He now teaches at the “Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava and his interests include Contemporary History of Romania and History Teaching Methodology. He has published a few articles and a monograph on Bukovina’s History.

Laure Teulières completed a Ph.D. in history and she is a member of the Laboratory FRAMESPA (CNRS / University of Toulouse in France), where she works on issues of migrant memories and collective identities in France and in transnational perspective. Specializing in migration history and cultural history, her most notable publications include Immigrés d’Italie et paysans de France, 1920-1944 (2002), and coordinated thematic papers such as “In memory of migrations” (Diasporas. Histoire et sociétés, 2005), “Images of migrations” (Migrance, 2007) and “Heritage and immigration” (Les Cahiers de Framespa, 2007).

Pantea Calin received his B.A. in History and Geography at the University of Oradea and also in Mathematics at the “Babes-Bolyai” University, Cluj-Napoca. He teaches at the Technical College Transilvania, Oradea. His special research interests cover the History of Oriental Romans, Cartography and Demography.

Cristian Sandache was educated at the „Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași. He finished his university studies in 1992, and completed his doctoral dissertation in Contemporary Romanian History in 2001. He is Associate Professor at the “Mihail Kogălniceanu” University of Iași. His publications include several volumes, studies and articles on the national minorities, totalitarian and authoritarian regimes during the 20th century, history of international relations.

Paustovanu Paul studied at the „1 Decembrie” University, Alba Iulia (2005). He received his M.A. at the „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava in 2007 with a dissertation on the Second World War as seen by Romanian veterans of Bukovina. He is particularly interested in History of Communism and Military History.

Lucian Dan Amon is Lecturer in History at the University of Craiova. He has worked on History of Rome and of Byzantine-Rome, on the Roman Army and on other aspects of ancient history. He was awarded his Ph. D. in 1999, for his thesis entitled Armament, equipment and other objects with military utilization, from Roman Army's endowment in Oltenia.

Mircea Ignat received his B.A. degree in Ancient History and Archaeology, and a Ph.D. in Archaeology at „Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași (1986). His research focuses on the ancient sources concerning Greece and Rome, as well as Free Dacians. He has participated in several archaeological projects and published several books and articles. He is Associate Professor in Ancient History at „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava.

Ute Hofmann has studied Modern History, Sociology and Applied Linguistics at Chemnitz University of Technology. In 2006 she graduated with a thesis about Baltic Germans in interwar Latvia. Her fields of interest cover history of Central Europe (19th-20th century), ego documents and historical social research.

Ana Vesa Cazacu graduated in 1997 with a degree in History and Geography at “Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava. She has just defended her doctoral dissertation, D.A. Sturdza – political, scientific and cultural dimension. Her research interests are the modern history of Romania and history of mentalities.

Harieta Mareci is Lecturer at the Faculty of History and Geography of the “Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava. She received her Ph.D. from “Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași in 2002 with a thesis on Romanian historiography. In this field of study, she has published one monograph and several articles. Her research interest focuses on Bukovina's cultural history and its personalities.

Radu Florian Bruja read history at „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava, graduating in 2001. He took his M.A. degree in History at the „Alexandru Ioan Cuza” University of Iași, and was awarded his Ph.D. in 2006. He has published several articles and a book on various aspects of political life during the '30s and '40s of the 20th century. He is now Lecturer at the „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava and his research interest is Romanian interwar radical political movement.

Alexandru Osca is Lecturer at the Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Craiova. He was awarded his Ph.D. in 2002, with the thesis Romania and the Balkan Agreement. Military Conventions. He teaches Contemporary History of Romania. His research interests centre on military history and contemporary international relations, on which he has published many studies and articles.

Doina Maria Creangă was educated at the „Gheorghe Asachi” Technical University of Iași, with a degree in Textiles and Leather Technology. She subsequently completed postgraduate courses as chemistry investigator (1998) and as restaurateur of heritage objects on leather material (2000). She was awarded her Ph. D in 2001 for a thesis on „The Alternatives in Chrome Tanning”. She is Associate Professor at „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava and her research focuses on the Chemistry in Conservation and Restoration.

Olimpia Mitric is Associate Professor at the „Ștefan cel Mare” University of Suceava. She graduated with a B.A. in Slavonic Studies from Faculty of Slavonic Languages, Department of Polish-Romanian, University of Bucharest (1977), and obtained her Ph.D. at the University of Bucharest (1997), with the thesis Writing Workshops, Scholars and Romanian Manuscripts in the Northern Moldavia (16th to 19th century). She specializes on the problem of history of the Romanian old books, and her research and publications investigate the genuine manuscripts and the old book's patrimony in the Northern Moldavia.